In the Senate, on Friday, at the night REPORTED FOR THE ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE. session, House bills were passed authorizing the justices of the Counties of Orange, Culpeper, &c., to impose a tax on dogs, and incorporating the Wheeling Railroad Bridge Company; Senate bills providing additional protection to slave property in the commonwealth, incorporating the Richmond and Lynchburg Railroad Company, and prohibiting Railroad agents from charging more than the regular transportation rates on railroad freights.

In the House of Delegates on Friday night several bills were passed, among them one to restrict the catching of oysters in certain months. The tax bill was taken up, several amendments adopted, and the bill passed.

The Senate on Saturday, concurred in the House amendments to Senate bill for the assessment of taxes on persons and property. (One of these amendments exempts from taxation the property of the Ladies' Mount Vernon Association of the Union.)

Mr. Haymond brought from the House the bill imposing taxes for the support of govthe tax on auctioneers of sugar and molasses shall not exceed $500. The Senate concurnow a law.

The bill to restrict the catching of oysters in certain months, was passed.

The bill to encourage direct foreign trade, by exempting from inspection, flour exported in vessels owned by citizens of the State, was taken up. The question pending was a substitute, providing that flour shall be inspected with an auger not less then fiveeights of an inch in diameter, and the draught flour to be retained by the inspector. Mr. Paxton moved an amendment requiring the draught flour to be sold for benefit of the Treasury. Rejected-ayes 12, noes 23. Mr. Paxton then moved an amendment, abolishing all laws for the inspection of flour. The bill was then passed-Ayes 20, noes
